

Common Types of Tobacco

Across

2. A light air-cured, low-sugar tobacco used primarily for cigarette production
6. Tobaccos indigenous to the eastern Mediterranean region, including the various "Turkish" tobaccos and Latakia
7. A dark tobacco that is cured in barns over an open fire and generally used as a component in many blends
8. A process of curing and by pressing tobacco, heating it from fire or steam, and then allowing it to ferment

Down

1. A "spice" tobacco grown only in St. James Parish, Louisiana
3. Somewhat sweet tobaccos with spicy flavor that are grown throughout the eastern Mediterranean region, and include Basma, Smyrna, Xanthi, Samsun, Izmir, Drama, and Yenidje
4. A specially prepared tobacco originally produced in Syria and named after the port city
5. Tobacco with several varieties, characterized with a relatively high sugar content, and grown in many areas